

TEACHER Appreciation WEEK

Why it Matters?

Teacher Appreciation Week is important because it recognizes the dedication and hard work of educators who inspire and shape future generations.

Teachers often go above and beyond, spending an average of $820 of their own money on classroom supplies each year.

Studies show that 94% of teachers use personal funds to support their students, and 88% say recognition and appreciation boost their job satisfaction.

Taking the time to celebrate them fosters a positive school culture and reinforces the value of education in our communities.
