

“Exploration is about the spirit and drive to make your life what you want, and our mission is to build products you trust to take you there.”

Makers at heart

Gregory designs packs with hand-crafted prototypes developed by skilled artisans at its headquarters in Salt Lake City, USA. By combining cutting-edge technology with forward-thinking design, Gregory creates streamlined, reliable outdoor gear built for every adventure.

Great packs should be worn, not carried

Gregory believes great packs should feel like a natural extension of the body, not something simply carried. This design philosophy drives the brand's focus on fit geometry and customized chassis technologies to create exceptionally comfortable, reliable packs built for every adventure.

Adventure with purpose

Gregory partners with nonprofits and outdoor organizations like The Conservation Alliance and Big City Mountaineers to help protect wild places and expand access to outdoor adventure.
